Dow is telling farmers that they need these new genetically engineered 'Agent Orange' crops because Monsanto's genetically engineered 'Roundup Ready' crops are failing. There is this misconception—and it runs pretty deep—that such essential products cannot have side effects. You must recognize these cases and alter how you answer them so that you don't automatically start thinking about cigarette smoking. These are human traits, and are common to a lot of aviation mishaps.